VEG-FRIENDLY, PLANET-CONSCIOUS

GEAR UP FOR SALAD DAYS

Getting five servings of veggies a day is fun with these colorful salad bowls made from bamboo, one of Earth's fastest-growing (read: most replenishable) plants. Bambu Home uses a species that isn't part of pandas' diets. Top your salad with Annie's Naturals' new savory Woodstock dressing, a good source of B₁₂ (from nutritional yeast). Now all you need is a never-ending supply of lettuce. 6-inch bowl, $10; 11.5-inch bowl, $31. 877.226.2829; bambuhome.com. Annie's Naturals dressing, $3/8 oz. 800.434.1234; anniesnaturals.com

BAGS & BISCUITS

Two things every dog owner needs: an endless stash of handy clean-up bags and healthy biscuits. Two steps in the right direction: First, this better-than-most grocery bag holder from Simple Human. It mounts easily inside cabinet doors and condenses your plastic bags before you reuse or recycle them. And second, these all-natural meatless treats from Blue Dog Bakery. Our tester's dog wagged her whole body for the Peanut Butter & Molasses Row. Bag stasher, $10. 888.988.8880; simplehuman.com. Dog biscuits, $4/24 oz. 888.749.7229; bluedogbakery.com
